

NEW FICTION

978-1-77214-112-2
$20 | 232 pp.

BLACK STAR

a novel by Maureen Medved

"an often funny but finally harrowing look at a dystopia that's come to reside in each of our souls."

– Charles D'Ambrosio, author of Loitering

"Suspenseful and beautifully written."

– Zoe Whittall, author of The Best Kind of People

"At once black comedy, social critique, Kantian nightmare, and psychological thriller, this novel scarred me.

And I am better for it."

– Chris Hutchinson, author of Jonas in Frames

ATOMIC ROAD

a novel by Grant Buday

Atomic Road is a comic road novel set at the height of the Cuban Missile Crisis.

"Atomic Road is compelling fiction. With its loose basis in historical fact, the story carefully spirals in and out of absurdity without losing the core of the journey. ... sure to stick in the mind like an insightful LSD trip."

– FOREWORD REVIEWS (5-Star Review)

978-1-77214-113-9 | $20 | 176 pp.

HIDER/SEEKER

stories by Jen Currin

"I can't stop thinking about Jen Currin's book. ... Currin writes with precision, beauty, and tenderness about the politics of imperfect relationships and people struggling to find wholeness."

– Kevin Chong, author of The Plague

"Jen Currin writes into difficult places with delicacy, humour and meditative grace..."

– Shaena Lambert, author of Oh, My Darling

978-1-77214-117-7 | $18 | 160 pp.

anvil
press publishers

visit us @ anvilpress.com

Represented by Publishers Group Canada • Distributed by Raincoast